Contractors with U. S. Government since 1861.

Cotton Duck is made in many grades, as well as of various weights. A light weight duck of the best quality will give better service than an inferior grade in heavier weight. "U. S. ARMY DUCK" in this catalogue indicates duck of the quality and closeness required by U. S. Army specifications, in conformity with which it must be free from sizing (stiffening used in inferior grades), as this increases liability to mildew. To minimize this tendency we advise the use of best duck only, and its preparation by special "Mildewproofing" process.

THE PRESCRIPTION OF AN EMINENT PHYSICIAN:

"Build an open shack in a nearby vacant lot and live in it. If you have a back yard, buy a tent and lock your bedroom door."

BOYLE'S HYGIENIC TENT.

VENTILATION ABSOLUTELY THOROUGH AND PERFECT.

Invented by HENRY B. THOMPSON, Inspector in U. S. War Department, and for over 20 years head of the Tent Making Shop at Schuylkill Arsenal, Philadelphia, U. S. A. (Patent applied for.)

Superior to any other Tent for Camping or Hospital use.

Permits perfect circulation of air with entire freedom from draughts.

Temperature in Tent can be greatly reduced when so desired, while by the closing of flaps at ends of Tent, the condition is the same as in Style 14.

Flys used with these Tents should extend beyond the Tent at each end, to prevent rain beating into the Tent at the end of the flue when the flaps are open. Such Flys also serve as sun awnings.
